Most Hispanic/Latino Florida residents age 45 and older have experiences as family caregivers, or believe they are likely to be caregivers in the future. Hispanic/Latino Florida residents age 45 and older say they have provided care—either currently (24%) or in the past (35%) —on an unpaid basis for an adult loved one who is ill, frail, elderly or who has a disability. Of those who have never provided care, more than half (56%) say it is at least somewhat likely they will do so in the future. Typical Hispanic/Latino family caregivers in Florida are women (60%) and are between 45-64 years old (69%). They are likely to be married (64%), and have a college degree (67%). The average age of the person they care for is 65 years old or older.

Both current and former caregivers have provided care in a myriad of ways, with three-quarters assisting with complex care like medication management (75%). At least eight in ten have helped loved ones in their care with shopping (86%), household management activities like preparing meals (83%), and social activities (83%), chores (80%), and transportation (80%). Three-quarters are helping to manage medications (75%) and nearly seven in ten are managing finances for their loved ones (68%).
AARP Florida

Hispanic/Latino Family Caregiver Profile

Nearly three-quarters (74%) current and past caregivers say it is likely that they will need to provide care again in the future. As such, nearly all of these caregivers (98%) believe it is at least somewhat important to be able to provide care so that their loved ones can keep living independently in their own home. Most also say, having more caregiver resources and training that allow family caregivers to continue to provide in-home care are at least somewhat important (93%).

Importance of Having Services that Allow People to Stay in Their Own Homes as They Age* (n=86 current or former caregivers)

Importance of Having More Resources and Training for Caregivers* (n=86 current or former caregivers)

Hispanic/Latino Florida respondents who are current or past caregivers report feeling emotionally (67%) and financially stressed (38%). Caregivers report that they are finding it difficult to get rest (64%), exercise regularly (56%), keep a healthy diet (35%), or visit their own doctor (36%). They also express feeling stressed about trying to balance their work and family (50%) and take care of their household (45%).

Experiences of Florida Caregivers Age 45-Plus * (n=86 current or former caregivers)

*Graph shows respondents who responded “yes” to each type of stressor.

*Due to rounding the chart may not total 100%
AARP Florida

Hispanic/Latino Family Caregiver Profile

AARP Florida commissioned a telephone survey of 1965 registered voters' age 45-plus to learn about their experiences with family caregiving. This report highlights a stratified sample of 400 Hispanic/Latino results from residents interviewed between May 27 and June 16, 2016. The data was weighted to reflect Hispanic/Latino registered voters in Florida age 45-plus. The survey has a margin of error of ±2.3 percent. The survey annotation will be made available at www.aarp.org/research.

AARP is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization, with a membership of nearly 38 million, that helps people turn their goals and dreams into real possibilities, strengthens communities and fights for the issues that matter most to families such as healthcare, employment and income security, retirement planning, affordable utilities and protection from financial abuse. We advocate for individuals in the marketplace by selecting products and services of high quality and value to carry the AARP name as well as help our members obtain discounts on a wide range of products, travel, and services. A trusted source for lifestyle tips, news and educational information, AARP produces AARP The Magazine, the world's largest circulation magazine; AARP Bulletin; www.aarp.org; AARP TV & Radio; AARP Books; and AARP en Español, a Spanish-language website addressing the interests and needs of Hispanics. AARP does not endorse candidates for public office or make contributions to political campaigns or candidates. The AARP Foundation is an affiliated charity that provides security, protection, and empowerment to older persons in need with support from thousands of volunteers, donors, and sponsors. AARP has staffed offices in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Learn more at www.aarp.org.

State Research brings the right knowledge at the right time to our state and national partners in support of their efforts to improve the lives of people age 50+. State Research consultants provide strategic insights and actionable research to attain measurable state and national outcomes. The views expressed herein are for information, debate, and discussion, and do not necessarily represent official policies of AARP.

AARP staff from the Florida State Office, Campaigns, State Advocacy and Strategy Integration and State Research contributed to the design, implementation and reporting of this study. Special thanks go to AARP staff, including Jeff Johnson, and Jack McRay, AARP Florida; Chryste Hall, Campaigns; Bill Clark, State Advocacy and Strategy Integration; Rachelle Cummins, Cheryl Barnes and Kadeem Thorpe, State Research. Please contact Aisha Bonner Cozad at 202-434-3531 for more information regarding this survey.

AARP Research

For more information about this survey, please contact Aisha Bonner Cozad at: 202.434.3531 or e-mail abonner@aarp.org